Excellence in the Fine Arts

EXCELLENCE IN THE FINE ARTS

The Division of Fine Arts fosters a long tradition of excellence. We have had performing arts on our campus since 1900 and visual arts since 1917. This year marks the 25th year of our Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in Ballet as well. This heritage informs our 21st century model of providing outstanding educational and creative experiences through dedicated faculty/mentors, more than 20 guest musicians, choreographers and artists, and 150 concerts, performances, exhibits and events annually.

A commitment to creating out-of-the-classroom learning experiences and inviting guest artists to campus exposes our students and faculty to relevant, artistic creativity and innovation. It also serves as a valuable source of inspiration and a model for successful careers in the arts.

Visual Arts

A major in the visual arts at Friends University allows students the opportunity to study studio art (drawing, painting, printmaking, sculpture, ceramics or photography) and graphics arts. Skilled faculty teach creativity and design as a foundation of the curriculum with an expectation that all students will create a professional portfolio as a result of their study and work. Students experience hands-on work in the studio or computer lab along with opportunities for out-of-the-classroom learning through international travel and exhibiting their work on campus and in area galleries.

"My class sizes are small enough that I get to know each and every person. Because we are so close, we are able to give and take constructive criticism extremely well. We all trust one another's opinions, which in the long run, will only make us better artists."

- Mary Lebeda, Graphic Design

Ballet

The Bachelor of Fine Arts in Ballet degree is designed to foster excellence in preparation for a professional career in the world of ballet with opportunities for additional studies in teaching, administration and therapy. Each ballet degree plan can be uniquely designed for individual students depending on interest, ability and goals. A dance minor is offered for students seeking a major in another discipline.

Our goal is to offer a ballet education that creates talented performing artists so they may achieve their future goals and become confident leaders in their profession. Final projects are designed to propel students into creative, successful careers. A nurturing and supportive environment, combined with professional ballet training, enables dancers to reach their full potential physically as their passion for arts education increases.

Friends University's ballet department involves a number of guest artists, teachers and choreographers each year. Our repertoire includes ballets by George Balanchine, Twyla Tharp, Dominic Walsh, Shawn Stevens and many others. We are committed to introducing our dancers to current artists in the world of dance at large.

Choral and Vocal Music

The comprehensive vocal program at Friends University includes four choral ensembles, music theatre and opera productions, vocal jazz, choral-orchestral masterworks and national and international touring. Friends University choirs are frequently invited to perform at the Kansas Music Educators Association annual convention and to collaborate with the Wichita Symphony Orchestra. Each year selected high school choirs are invited to the Choral Connections festival to join forces with Friends University choirs to study and perform under the baton of internationally-renowned specialists in choral music. The choral and vocal faculty regularly offer out-of-the-classroom learning experiences through national and international touring, opera study experiences in Germany and performing at professional music education conferences throughout the Midwest and Southeast. Ensembles have performed across the United States and Canada, as well as Europe, Australia, New Zealand and Costa Rica. The Singing Quakers, the oldest musical organization at Friends University, has also been featured on national television and has performed at the White House, Lincoln Center and Carnegie Hall in New York City.

Instrumental Music

Instrumental Music is a vibrant part of the division. Students from across campus, regardless of major, have an opportunity to learn and perform in a variety of wind or string ensembles. The Concert Band collaborates regularly with guest artists and composers to perform some of the greatest new and standard literature from the wind band repertoire. The Chamber Orchestra performs string literature and collaborates regularly with guest soloists and serves as the orchestra for opera productions bi-annually. Friends University Community Orchestra includes students and community members in large orchestra. Chamber ensembles - including the Percussion Ensemble, Flute Choir and a number of quartets, quintets and trios - provide students another learning opportunity for great music. Instrumental ensembles regularly perform at the Kansas Music Educators Association annual convention.

Jazz

The jazz department is unique in the opportunities it provides for playing and studying jazz in a small university setting. Students participate in a variety of jazz ensembles, including two big bands, a jazz vocal ensemble, several jazz combos, jazz improvisation class and applied lesson faculty for all jazz instruments. Each spring Friends University hosts a two-day festival for school jazz ensembles and jazz choirs. Students from across Kansas come to work with leading jazz educators and hear outstanding jazz musicians in concert. Out-of-the-classroom learning experiences include working with nationally recognized guest artists, performing in venues throughout Wichita and international touring and travel (Havana Cuba Jazz Festival, 2012, Europe 2008, 2010).

"The opportunities I received while being a part of the Friends University Jazz Program have left an imprint on my life that has guided my future. To be able to meet such established musicians, travel great places most importantly be surrounded by a jazz family that will last a lifetime, has given me the support and foundation to continue my goals of a professional career in music." - Andre Reyes Jr., G.'15, Music Performance with Jazz Concentration

Theatre

The Bachelor of Arts in Theatre offers a broad-based program of study combining a liberal arts education with a generalist theatre curriculum.

At Friends this means that a theatre major normally chooses not to specialize in any one area of the art form, but prefers to keep education options open. Since the theatre environment can be quite competitive and strenuous, students come to learn creative ways to solve their educational, vocational as well as artistic problems using critical thinking skills based upon solid work experience in theatrical performance and/or production. This sets the stage for success in many areas of endeavor.

Theatre at Friends means ensemble: working intimately with others toward creative ends. Theatre at Friends also means working independently: setting goals, becoming motivated and meeting deadlines. Theatre at Friends means good play joins good work in a fun and creative community.

Main stage productions and student-directed projects provide ample opportunity for students to perform or to manage or assist the technical production process.

Rose Window Plaza - Free

One of the first things that attracted me to Friends was the choral/vocal program. In Singing Quakers, the music that we make is challenging, personally fulfilling, and God-glorifying. Another thing I love about Friends is the theatre program. I feel I can trust the professors' production choices, and I don't have to compromise my beliefs. All of the Fine Arts professors challenge me to work hard at my art form."
- Amy Shelden, English
